

Dear Friend,

Hello from the JBI library!

I'm Jill Rothstein, your new head librarian. Some of you may know me from my past position with the New York Public Library's Braille and Talking Book Library. I'm so happy to be here at JBI now and look forward to meeting you.

We also have another new library team member who just joined - Cameran Kershner, who will be working with me to spruce up our catalog, expand our collections, and provide service to you in whatever way we can. The fabulous and dedicated Inna Suholutsky is still here answering your emails and phone calls and helping with all your requests!

We have so much for you to look forward to this new year including a revamped Voices audio magazine on themes that will engage us in interesting discussions and highlight patron submissions, memoir writing, browsable lists of recommended books by topic, a Tu Bishvat gathering to celebrate trees, a monthly patron newsletter which will be sent out via email (make sure we have yours!), posted on our website, and hopefully soon available as dial-up by phone.

We all love hearing from you so please be in touch by emailing library@jbilibrary.org or calling 212-545-8025.

Here to help,

Jill

Get in touch!

We are committed to serving you, and want to hear from you.

Visit our website at www.jbilibrary.org

Phone: 212-545-8025 or 800-433-1531

Emails:

Livia Thompson, Executive Director, LThompson@JBILibrary.org

Jill Rothstein, Head Librarian, JRothstein@JBILibrary.org

Inna Suholutsky, Librarian, ISuholutsky@JBILibrary.org

Noa Etedgi, Project Administrator, NEtedgi@JBILibrary.org

Social Media: Facebook Instagram LinkedIn

JBIL

(established in 1931 as the Jewish Braille Institute)

Enabling access to Jewish life through audio, braille and large print texts

110 East 30th Street, New York, NY 10016